Overview:

At the September 12, 2011 meeting of the Planning Commission, stakeholders raised concerns about the draft agricultural tourism ordinances and the Planning Commission voted to continue the item until Staff could hold another meeting with stakeholders. This addendum addresses the changes that were made to the draft ordinances as a result of the October 5, 2011 stakeholders' meeting.

Staff Recommendations:

Staff is recommending APPROVAL of the proposed project as revised.

I. DISCUSSION

- A. History/Background: At the September 12, 2011 meeting of the Planning Commission, stakeholders raised concerns about the draft agricultural tourism ordinances and the Planning Commission voted to continue the item until Staff could hold another meeting with stakeholders. A stakeholders meeting was held on October 5, 2011 and Staff made a number of changes to the revised ordinances as a result of feedback from the stakeholders.
- B. Changes to All Draft Ordinances: The previous drafts of the ordinances required all access roads and parking areas to be of a "dust free surface". Staff received feedback from stakeholders that this definition was not clear, so the revised ordinances require that "all access road must meet the standards of the Fire Marshall" and "all parking areas must have an active dust control program."

The environmental document prepared for these amendments included Mitigation Measures B and C related to the preservation of historical structures, defined as structures over 50 years in age. If renovation of such structures is contemplated, Mitigation Measure B requires that an historic architectural study be conducted to determine if the structure has significant historical architectural resources. A determination of significance would then be made by the Community Planning and Development Department. If considered significant, the structure would need to be preserved in accordance with the Secretary of the Interiors' Standards. The purpose of this mitigation measure is to recognize structures that have historical significance and insure that renovation plans address the history of the structure.

Many stakeholders were opposed to this measure on the basis that it would be too costly for property owners. Environmental Review and Assessment Staff drafted two alternatives to Mitigation Measure B. Instead of requiring an historic architectural study when renovation is proposed on a structure over 50 years in age, the first alternative allows property owners to submit photographs of the structure to the Community Planning and Development Department Staff, who will then determine whether an historical evaluation is warranted. Mitigation Measure C states that "structures deemed to be significant historical architectural resources shall be preserved in situ with all proposed modifications carried out to the The Secretary of Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties with Guidelines for Preserving, Rehabilitating, Restoring and Reconstructing Historic Buildings." The second alternative to Mitigation Measure B drafted by Environmental Review and Assessment Staff requires compliance with Mitigation Measure C without the need to submit photographs or an historical evaluation. These alternatives to Mitigation Measure B are included in the revised draft ordinances.

Winery Ordinance: Staff received feedback from stakeholders that the size of events at wineries should be based on the size of the property. The draft winery ordinance defines a small event as "a promotional or temporary event that is attended by less than fifty (50) people at one time" and defines a "large event" as "a promotional or temporary event that is attended by fifty (50) or more people at one time." Examples of temporary events are meetings, fundraisers or weddings. Wine makers dinners or events that feature food and wine pairs are examples of promotional events. Small wineries, defined as a winery with up to 15,000 cases annual production, are not limited in the number of small events, but are limited to twelve (12) large events per calendar year. (A small winery may be permitted to hold more than twelve large events per calendar year if a conditional use permit is obtained from the Zoning Administrator.) Large wineries, defined as a winery with more than 15,000 cases annual production, are allowed in the agricultural zones (AG-20, AG-40, AG-80 and AG-160) subject to a conditional use permit from the Planning Commission. These wineries are allowed small and large events subject to their conditional use permits. Large wineries in the industrial zones (M-1 and M-2) are allowed by right, and are not limited in the number of small events they are allowed to hold. Large wineries in the industrial zones are allowed a maximum of twelve large events per calendar year unless they obtain a conditional use permit from the Zoning Administrator.

ZONING CODE AMENDMENT- AGRICULTURAL TOURISM

The revised ordinance defines a small event as “a promotional or temporary event that is attended by less than fifty (50) people at one time on a winery located on 5 acres or less, or a promotional or temporary event that is attended by less than one hundred (100) people at one time on a winery located on more than 5 acres”. The revised definition of a large event is “a promotional or temporary event that is attended by fifty (50) or more people at one time on a winery located on 5 acres or less, or a promotional or temporary event that is attended by one hundred people (100) or more at one time on a winery located on more than 5 acres.

Staff received comments at the stakeholders’ meeting that all small events should be limited to 150 people, regardless of the size of the property. However, Staff believes that this limit is too high and would be disruptive to neighboring properties. At the stakeholders’ meeting there was also some discussion about notification of neighbors regarding new wineries and it was noted that the ABC licensing process provides some notice.

Staff also received comments from some stakeholders that the limit of 15,000 cases annual production is too high for small wineries and comments from other stakeholders that the limit of 15,000 cases annual production is too low. However, Staff believes that the limit of up to 15,000 cases annual production is a reasonable limit for small wineries.

Field Retail Stand, Farm Stand, Produce Stand, Community Stand and Agricultural Market Ordinance: The previous draft of this ordinance only allowed agricultural markets to sell agricultural and food related items such as cake tins. Based on feedback Staff received from stakeholders, the ordinance was revised to allow all types of stands and markets (field retail stands, farms stands, produce stands, community stands and agricultural markets) to sell agricultural and food preparation related items, with a maximum of 25% of the total storage and sales area of the stand or market devoted to these items.

Based on additional feedback, the new version of the draft ordinance deleted any restrictions on hours of operation for any of the stands or for agricultural markets.

Many of the stakeholders would like farm stands to be able to sell produce not grown by the producer who operates the stand. However, the California Retail Food Code Section 114375(c)(1), which refers to paragraph 6 of subdivision (c) of Section 13789, limits the sale of produce at farm stands to “whole produce grown by the produce,” prohibiting farm stands from selling crops grown by another farmer. The revised version of the ordinance allows the sale of produce not grown by the producer at farm stands and field retail stands during events if a community event permit is obtained from the Environmental Management Department (EMD). However, these events must be “of a civic, political, public or educational nature” in order for EMD to be able to grant a community event permit that allows the sale of produce not grown by the producer who operates the field retail or farm stand.

The revised version would allow field retail stands, farm stands, produce stands and agricultural markets that are allowed by right up to 24 events per year, with the issuance of a temporary use permit. The previous versions of the ordinances allowed up to 12 events per calendar year with the issuance of a temporary use permit, however Staff revised the ordinances to allow 24 events per calendar year with the issuance of a temporary use permit. This change will allow field retail stands and farm stands more opportunities to sell produce from other farms, as allowed by State law, during community events.

An additional change that was made to the ordinance as a result of feedback from stakeholders is that community stands in most residential and agricultural zones are allowed on private property “if under the supervision of a public agency or non-profit organization” (Condition 43 under Section D). The previous version of the ordinance limited community stands in most agricultural and residential zones to church locations, parks, public property and property owned by non-profit organizations. However, community stands maybe permitted by EMD on any property as long as the stand is under the supervision of a public agency or non-profit organization.

Staff also received feedback that more signage is necessary. The revised draft allows field retail stands, farm stands, produce stands and agricultural markets one sign at each entrance, instead of only one sign per parcel. Signage at community stands is regulated by the community stand’s temporary use permit. The revised draft maintains the maximum size of signage at 50 square feet, although stakeholders requested a larger size.

Farm Stay Ordinance: The signage limits for farm stays was also changed in the draft ordinance to allow one sign per entrance, rather than one sign per parcel. Stakeholders made a number of suggestions at the October 5th meeting about expanding farm stay operations to allow additional guests, and to allow tent cabins and RV hookups. However, expanding farm stay operations beyond the limit of five guestrooms and fifteen guests would trigger additional requirements under the California Building Code and the California Retail Food Code. Staff believes that the draft ordinance is a good first step and that expanding farm stay operations at this time would be too complicated.

ZONING CODE AMENDMENTS-AGRICULTURAL TOURISM

Overview:

This series of Zoning Code Amendments is intended to provide incentives for agritourism in Sacramento County by allowing more wineries, farm stands, and farm stays by right in agricultural areas. These amendments would allow farmers and providers of locally grown crops to expand their opportunities to bring locally grown products to the community and create additional revenue streams to keep agricultural pursuits and farming viable in Sacramento County.

Significant Issues:

These amendments are generally supported by members of the agricultural community, providers of locally grown crops, and community members in the affected communities. Through the outreach process, many initial concerns have been addressed. Issues that have not been entirely resolved include: a) a desire that farm stands could sell locally grown products not grown by the producer, b) remaining concerns about some of the development standards for wineries and farm stands, and c) concern about the mitigation measure that calls for a historical evaluation when structures are 50 years or greater in age.

Recommendations:

Staff is recommending that the Board of Supervisors ADOPT the attached Zoning Ordinance Amendments to revise and set forth development standards for wineries, farm stands and farm stays.

ZONING CODE AMENDMENTS-AGRICULTURAL TOURISM

I. PROJECT ANALYSIS

- A. Background: The purpose of these amendments is to foster agritourism in the County by streamlining the permitting requirements for agritourism activities. These amendments are a result of numerous meetings with members of the agricultural community who desire to enhance the economic viability of their farms. These amendments focus on fostering the production, sale and promotion of locally grown crops in order to reduce reliance on mass-produced and imported food products.
- B. Summary: The draft Winery, Farm Stand and Farm Stay ordinances would set forth development standards for agricultural industries in Sacramento County, and promote agricultural tourism and economic development opportunities. The draft ordinances would allow some agritourism uses by right in certain zones, and allow others through the use permit process. Additionally, the draft ordinances would create specific parking and signage development standards for wineries, farm stands and farm stay operations, and outline additional permitting requirements from other departments.

In summary, the amendments accomplish the following objectives:

Sale of Produce: These amendments provide four classifications for premises that sell produce. The reason for the four classifications is to recognize the nuances of the California Food Code. All four types of farm stands would be permitted by right in agricultural zones if the indoor sales area of the stand does not exceed 1,500 square feet in size. The main difference is that produce stands and agricultural markets can sell crops that are locally grown but not grown on the premises. Such stands/markets (similar to the Delta Visitor's Center) need to have permanent facilities to meet California Food Code requirements. The main outstanding issue is that stakeholders want farm stands to be able to sell locally grown produce however, this is not permitted by the California Food Code.

These amendments are also relevant to uses in urban areas. While the Zoning Code currently allows Certified Farmers' Markets in commercial areas, these amendments would also allow "community stands" that sell locally grown crops by non-profit organizations in specified commercial areas.

Wineries: These amendments allow small wineries by right in agricultural zones. Small wineries are defined as having tasting rooms under 1,500 square feet in size. Special events are also allowed. As an example, wineries such as Scribner's Bend and Two Hands would most likely be permitted without a conditional use permit.

Farm Stays: Farm stays are a growing concept that are similar to Bed and Breakfast Inns, but focus on customers that are interested in learning and participating in farming activities. Farm Stays with five or fewer rooms would be allowed by right in agricultural zones.

ZONING CODE AMENDMENTS-AGRICULTURAL TOURISM
 PLNP2011-00047

2. New Development Standards and Permitted Zones for Agritourism Uses

Farm Stays: The proposed Zoning Code amendments would allow farm stays outright in the AG-160 to AG-20, UR and IR zones, and allow farm stays, subject to a use permit from the Zoning Administrator, in the AR-10 and AR-5 zones. The proposed development standards for farm stays include a limit of five total guest rooms, a limit of 15 total guests and the requirement that lodging and meals be incidental and not the primary function of the agricultural home stay establishment. Farm stay operations that do not meet the development standards would be allowed subject to the issuance of a conditional use permit from the Planning Commission.

Field Retail Stands, Farm Stands, Produce Stands and Agricultural Markets: Field retail stands, farm stands, produce stands and agricultural markets would be allowed in the AG-160 to AG-20, UR, IR and AR-10 to AR-2 zones by right, and allowed a maximum of twelve events per calendar year with the issuance of a temporary use permit by the Zoning Administrator. Field retail stands in the RR zone would also be allowed by right and allowed a maximum of twelve events per calendar year with the issuance of a temporary use permit. Field retail stands in the AR-1, RD-1 to RD-3, and O zones, farm stands in the AR-1, RD-1 to RD-3, RR and O zones, and produce stands in the RR and O zones would require a use permit issued by the Zoning Administrator.

- Field Retail Stands: In contrast to farms stands, produce stands, community stands and agricultural markets, field retail stands do not require approval from the County Environmental Management Department (EMD), but they would be limited to the sale of shell eggs and crops that are grown by the producer. (These stands were formerly called stands for the display and sale of crops grown on the premises.)
- Farm Stands: In addition to shell eggs and crops grown by the producer, farm stands would also be allowed to sell non-potentially hazardous prepackaged food products from an approved source that were grown or produced in close proximity to the farm stand and non-potentially hazardous prepackaged food products, including bottled water and soft drinks, from an approved source that have not been grown or produced in close proximity to the farm stand. The California Retail Food Code Section 114375(c)(1), which refers to paragraph 6 of subdivision (c) of Section 13789, limits the sale of produce at farm stands to “whole produce grown by the produce”, prohibiting farm stands from selling crops grown by another farmer. Pursuant to the California Retail Food Code Section 114375(c)(3), prepackaged food products that have not been grown or produced in close proximity to the farm stand are limited to a 50 square-foot storage and sales area. The proposed Zoning Code amendments would also incorporate this limit.

- Produce Stands: The California Retail Food Code, as well as the proposed Zoning Code amendments, allows produce stands, unlike field retail stands and farms stands, to sell crops that were not grown on premises controlled by the producer. The California Retail Food Code defines produce stands as “permanent food facilities”, limits produce stands to the sale of produce and shell eggs, and does not allow produce stands to sell prepackaged food. Chapter 9 of the Retail Food Code states the minimum requirements for permanent food facilities, such as being located within a fully enclosed structure with potable hot and cold running water, and having a septic system or being hooked up to the sewer system.
- Agricultural Markets: By providing a new category of agricultural markets, these amendments would allow facilities to sell locally grown crops not grown on the premises and sell prepackaged food (ancillary use under 25%).

Development Standards for Field Retail Stands, Farm Stands, Produce Stands and Agricultural Markets: The development standards would require field retail stands and farm stands to be operated by the producer on premises controlled by the producer.

Under the proposed Zoning Code amendments, field retail stands, farm stands, produce stands and agricultural markets would be limited to one stand or market per parcel and be required to meet the setback standards of the zone in which they are located. Additionally, stands and markets would be allowed to operate from sunrise to 8:00 p.m., and be limited to a maximum 1,500 square feet of indoor sales area and 3,000 square feet of total enclosed area.

Community Stands: Community stands would be allowed in the RR and O zones with the approval of a temporary use permit by the Zoning Administrator, with no annual limit to the number of occurrences. Community stands would be allowed at church locations, parks, public property and property owned by non-profit organizations in the AG-160 to AG-20, UR, IR, AR-10 to AR-1, RD-1 to RD-40, MPH and RM-2 zones subject to the issuance of a temporary use permit by the Zoning Administrator, with no annual limit to the number of occurrences. Certified farmers markets and community stands would be allowed in the SC, LC, GC, AC, TC and CO zones subject to approval of a temporary use permit by the Zoning Administrator. Certified Farmers Markets and community stands would also be allowed in the MP, M-1 and M-2 land use zones, subject to the approval of a temporary use permit by the Zoning Administrator.

Under the proposed Zoning Code Amendments, community stands would serve as “urban farm stands”, making fresh produce available to urban areas that may not currently have easy access to produce. Community stands could operate in areas that do not have enough customers to make a certified farmers market viable. Unlike farmers markets, community stands would be operated by nonprofit organizations and not by producers themselves. Community stands would be allowed to sell shell eggs and crops that are locally grown, non-potentially hazardous prepackaged food products from an approved source that were locally grown or produced, and non-potentially hazardous prepackaged food products, including bottled water and soft drinks, from an approved source that were not locally grown or produced. Non-potentially hazardous prepackaged food products, including bottled water and soft drinks, from an approved source that have not been locally grown or produced would be limited to a 50 square foot storage and sales area. Community stands would fall under the definition of a “community event” and a “temporary food facility” in the California Retail Food Code. Under the Retail Food Code, community stands would be considered educational in nature and, therefore, be required to be run by nonprofit organizations. The hours of operation, stand size (up to a maximum of 1,500 square feet of indoor sales area and 3,000 square feet of total enclosed area), setbacks, signs and parking requirements for community stands would be regulated by the stand’s temporary use permit.

Small Wineries: Small wineries would be an allowed use in the AG-160 to AG-20, AR-10 and AR-5 land use zones. Small wineries would also be allowed by right in the M-1 and M-2 land use zones. Wine tasting would be limited to five days per week at small wineries unless a use permit is issued by the Zoning Administrator.

Large Wineries: Large wineries would be an allowed use in the AG-160 to AG-20 zones, subject to the issuance of a use permit from the appropriate authority (i.e., the Planning Commission). Large wineries would also be allowed in the M-1 and M-2 land use zones by right if the tasting facilities are limited to a maximum of 15% of the square footage of the indoor portion of the winery. Events at large wineries in the AG-160 to AG-20 zones would be regulated by the winery’s use permit.

Development Standards for All Wineries: A minimum lot size of three acres would be required for all wineries. If the winery is accessed only via a private road shared by others, a use permit from the Zoning Administrator would be required, and the use permit would require the applicant to pay their fair share of the road maintenance cost. The Director of the Community Planning and Development Department may waive the requirement for a use permit if written verification of approval from all property owners along the private road is submitted. The sale of wine related food and merchandise would be incidental to the tasting and limited to 15% of the square footage of the tasting area. All winery buildings would be required to meet the setback standards of the zone in which they are located. Small wineries, and large wineries in the M-1 and M-2 land use zones, would be limited to twelve large events (attended by 50 or more people at one time) per calendar year unless a conditional use permit is obtained from the Zoning Administrator.

D. Mitigation Measures Relating to Preservation of Historical Structures

The environmental document prepared for these amendments includes mitigation measures related to the preservation of historical structures, defined as structures over 50 years in age. If renovation of such structures is contemplated, the mitigation measures (incorporated into the draft ordinance) require that a historic architectural study be conducted to determine if the structure has significant historical architectural resources. A determination of significance would be made by the Director of the Community Planning and Development Department. If considered significant, the structure would need to be preserved in accordance with the Secretary of the Interiors' Standards. The purpose of this mitigation measure is to recognize structures that have historical significance and insure that renovation plans address the history of the structure.

These mitigation measures were presented and addressed at the second outreach meeting on August 10, 2011. Several stakeholders were opposed to these measures on the basis that they placed requirements on structures in agricultural areas that are not required of other historical structures in the County, since the County does not have an overall policy and ordinance addressing historical structures.

E. Update of Flood Insurance Rate Maps

It's important to note that many agricultural industries in the County are located in the Delta Community, and almost all the Delta is either already in a FEMA Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA) or will be placed into a SFHA when the Flood Insurance Rate Maps are updated in 2012. (The National Flood Insurance Program's floodplain management regulations must be enforced within a SFHA and the purchase of flood insurance is mandatory.) The Sacramento County Floodplain Management Ordinance requires that new buildings or the entire building being substantially improved shall be constructed such that the lowest floor is elevated at least 1.5 feet above the floodplain elevation. Special flood-proofing requirements apply to the portion of a building built below the floodplain. Commercial buildings may be constructed with finished floors below the minimum floor elevation using watertight "dry flood-proof" design methods. There are large areas in the Delta that will be located in a deep floodplain (some areas as much as 25' deep) such that it could be too costly or impracticable to meet the minimum floor elevation requirement or be dry flood-proofed. Although the new flood regulations may inhibit new construction or major improvements, remodeling of existing buildings (if less than 50% of the value) is still possible, making conversions to utilize these agritourism amendments still possible.

F. Outreach

Two stakeholders' meetings were held on the draft ordinances, the first on February 2, 2011 and the second on August 10, 2011. The purpose of the first meeting was to give an overview of the draft ordinances. The purpose of the second meeting was to give an overview for new participants and to present changes made to the ordinances as a result of feedback from the first meeting. Because of comments received at the first stakeholders' meeting, as well as other comments received by staff, some of the signage standards were applied to all categories. These standards include a maximum sign area of 50 square feet, a height limit of six feet above road grade for monument signs and a setback for monument signs of at least 16 feet from the right-of-way of public streets unless a lesser setback is approved by the Planning Division.

ZONING CODE AMENDMENTS-AGRICULTURAL TOURISM

Community stands were also added to the farm stand ordinance after staff received feedback at the first meeting regarding the need for stands that sell crops in urban areas. Additionally, language was added to the three ordinances to allow temporary use permits to be valid for up to three years.

Remaining issues have to do with concerns that the development standards, especially the maximum amount of signage allowed, are still too strict, and concerns about leaving the determination of what constitutes a dust free surface up to the local fire districts. The Site Improvement and Permit Section of the County Department of Building and Code Enforcement leaves the definition of dust free surface up to the local fire districts and there are no countywide standards. Additional concerns have been expressed by stakeholders about the mitigation measures that call for historical evaluation when structures are 50 years or greater in age. However, these mitigation measures are a result of the CEQA review of the project. The additional concern that farm stands will not be allowed to sell produce grown by other farmers cannot be addressed by the agritourism code amendments because the California Retail Food Code does not allow farmers to sell produce from other farmers at farm stands.

II. STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS

If adopted, the agricultural tourism code amendments would streamline the permitting process for wineries, farm stay operations and farm stands (including field retail stands, produce stands, community stands and agricultural markets), promote economic development opportunities for the agricultural industry and preserve agricultural lands within Sacramento County. Staff recommends that the Board of Supervisors ADOPT these zoning code amendments.

A. Recommended Actions:

1. Environmental Documentation: Determine that the environmental analysis is adequate and complete and that the NEGATIVE DECLARATION is appropriate.
2. Zoning Code Amendments: ADOPT the attached ordinances to amend the zoning code as requested, subject to the findings listed in Section II.B of this report.

B. Recommended Findings: The staff recommendations are based upon the following considerations:

1. The request is consistent with the County General Plan map and text.

ZONING CODE AMENDMENTS-AGRICULTURAL TOURISM
PLNP2011-00047

2. Identified environmental effects and suggested mitigation measures have been taken into consideration in the recommended actions.
